

Into a Dream

© 2007 Peoples Collective Publishing

Life is nothing more than an illusion
It's nothing more than meets the eye
It's nothing more than allusive
A circumstance in disguise

Comeback those fears the fears that haunt you
And tear you up deep inside
Did you really think you had to Raise your thumb and take that ride

Experienced the taste of life

Chorus

*Your belief in illusion
Stemming from the dreams
You turned your bridges to ashes
You fell upon your knees*

Into a Dream, Into a Dream

We wear the hat it's of the good times
To ease our pain and ease our minds
When thinking back about the first times
In the night spilling life

Reached out onto the coming light
The break of dawn the pass of night
Belief in what was wrong and what was right
Experienced the taste of life
The taste of life

Chorus

*Your belief in illusions
Stemming from the dreams
Turned your bridges to ashes
And fell upon your knees
Into a Dream, Into a Dream*